Role of the ICFM

The Institute of Car Fleet Management has been created to “further the education, recognise the achievements and advance the profession of Car Fleet Management”.

The Institute of Car Fleet Management was formed to answer a need within road transport fleet car and light van administration which had previously not received the attention it justified. Management of a car fleet has become highly complex because of the capital intensive, technical, financial, legal and political nature of the business.

Aims

- To provide a high quality formal education and training syllabus specifically aimed at Car Fleet Managers, aspirant Car Fleet Managers, Administrators and Fleet Service Support Providers leading to accredited, vocational qualifications recognised and accepted by the industry as the requisite for the profession
- To foster and promote the profession of Car Fleet Management within Industry and commerce
- To advance the profession through research into all aspects of Car Fleet Management and communicate the findings to its members
- To develop the use of best practice relative to the environment and safety
- To encourage members to communicate their knowledge through the writing of articles, papers and text books and create a centre of reference for the benefit of members

Membership of the Institute at various levels is achieved through a combination of practical experience, training, and academic ability. There are four levels of membership:

AFFILIATE (SICFM)
ASSOCIATE MEMBER (AICFM)
MEMBER (MICFM)
FELLOW (FICFM)

Benefits of Membership

The Institute of Car Fleet Management aims to prepare all levels of membership with a wide range of knowledge and skills in key competence elements reflecting best practice for the profession.. This will be achieved primarily through the provision of relevant education and training programmes, specialist guidelines, forums and an Annual Conference.
